This same thing happens with your credit cards, mortgage, loans, etc.

Cleaning up your credit will lower your bills and can save hundreds of thousands of dollars!

What Is A Credit Score?

A credit score is a number generated by a mathematical formula that is meant to predict creditworthiness. Credit scores range from 300-850. The higher your score is, the more likely you are to get a loan. The lower your score is, the less likely you are to get a loan. If you have a low credit score and manage to get approved for credit, your interest rate will be much higher than someone who had a good credit score. So, having a high credit score will save you many thousands of dollars.

What Is A Credit Bureau?

A credit bureau is a company that collects and maintains your credit information and sells it to lenders, creditors and consumers in the form of a credit report. There are dozens of credit bureaus, we're most concerned with the big three: Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion.

How Credit Bureaus Determine your Credit Score

The percentages in this chart show how important each of the categories is in determining your credit score. We will help you to remove negative items from your payment history. We will also show you how to maximize your debt ratio score, even if paying off credit cards is not an option.

How Your Behavior Is Evaluated in Your Credit Report:

Do you pay your bills on time? Payment history is a major factor in credit scoring. If you have paid bills late, have collections or a bankruptcy, these events won't reflect well in your credit score.

Do you have a long credit history? Generally speaking, the longer your history of holding accounts is, the more trusted you will be as a borrower.

Have you applied for credit recently? If you have many recent inquiries this can be construed as being negative by the bureaus. Only apply for credit when you really want it.

What is your outstanding debt? It is important to not use all of your available credit. If all of your credit cards are maxed out, your scores will reflect that you are not managing your debt wisely.

|-----------------|----------------|----------------|----------------|----------------|------------------|------------------|
| 300-499  | 500-579 | 580-619 | 620-679 | 680-699 | 700-799   | 800+      |
| VERY BAD | BAD     | POOR    | FAIR    | GOOD    | VERY GOOD | EXCELLENT |

800 and Higher (Excellent) With a credit score in this range no lender will ever disapprove your loan application. Additionally, the APR (Annual Percentage Rate) on your credit cards will be the lowest possible. You'll be treated as royalty. Achieving this excellent credit rating not only requires financial knowledge and discipline, but also a good credit history. Generally speaking, to achieve this excellent rating you must also use a substantial amount of credit on an ongoing monthly basis and always repay it ahead of time.

700 - 799 (Very Good) 27% of the United States population belongs to this credit score range. With this credit score range, you will enjoy good rates and approved for nearly any type of credit loan or personal loan, whether unsecured or secured.

680 - 699 (Good) This range is the average credit score. In this range approvals are practically guaranteed but the interest rates might be marginally higher. If you're thinking about a long-term loan such as a mortgage, try working to increase your credit score higher than 720 and you will be rewarded for your efforts; your long-term savings will be noticeable.

620 - 679 (OK or Fair) Depending on what kind of loan or credit you are applying for and your credit history, you might find that the rates you are quoted aren't best. That doesn't mean that you won't be approved but, certain restrictions will apply to the loan's terms.

580 - 619 (Poor) With a poor credit rating you can still get an unsecured personal loan and even a mortgage, but the terms and interest rates won't be very appealing. You'll be required to pay more over a longer period of time because of the high interest rates.

500 - 579 (Bad) With a score in this range you can get a loan but nothing even close to what you expect it to be. Some people with bad credit apply for loans to consolidate debt in search for a fresh start. However, if you decide to do that proceed cautiously. With a 500 credit score you need to make sure that you don't default on payments or you'll be making your situation worse and might head towards bankruptcy, which is not what you want.

499 and Lower (Very Bad) If this is your score range you need serious assistance with how you handle your credit. You're making too many credit blunders and they will only get worse if you don't take positive action. If you are thinking of a loan (which won't be easy), the rates will be very high and the terms will be very strict. We recommend that you fix your credit first before applying for a loan.

PART 2 - YOUR CREDIT SCORES AND SUMMARY

We have analyzed your credit reports from the three major bureaus. Here are our findings:

Your Credit Scores:

These scores were reported by Smart Credit on 01/25/2021

Keep Your Credit Monitoring Account Active Throughout the Credit Repair Process

Your credit scores may vary depending on where you get your credit reports from, because different sources have different methods for determining your score and scheduling updates. Maintaining one (1) credit monitoring account will give us a baseline score as a point of reference to grow from, to accurately see changes as they happen. For this reason, you must keep your same credit monitoring account active, rather than checking your scores on multiple sites that will differ.

Your Derogatory Summary:

Next, we analyzed all the items on your reports, to determine which accounts are negatively impacting your score. Here are our findings:

|                      | EQUIFAX | EXPERIAN | TRANSUNION |
|----------------------|---------|----------|------------|
| DELINQUENT:          | 0       | 1        | 1          |
| DEROGATORY:          | --      | 3        | 3          |
| PUBLIC RECORDS:      | 0       | 0        | 0          |
| INQUIRIES (2 years): | 2       | 3        | 5          |

PART 3 - ANALYSIS OF YOUR ACCOUNTS

Your Derogatory Items:

You have 30 items marked as delinquent or derogatory. Recent late payments, collections, and other derogatory items within the last six months will hurt your credit score more than older inactive accounts. Accounts within the last 24 months carry the second most weight. This is why it is crucial to pay all bills on time and do not miss any payments.

We Are Experts in Disputing Errors on Your Report That Lower Your Score.

While we cannot promise to remove all of your negative items on your report, we do know how to use the law in your favor and we have an awesome track record.

Credit Utilization:

|                       | TRANSUNION | EQUIFAX | EXPERIAN |
|-----------------------|------------|---------|----------|
| Credit card limit     | $2,100    | $1,300 | $3,000  |
| Open credit card debt | $0        | $0     | $0      |

You have $2,133 in revolving credit lines and your balances average at $0 which means that you are utilizing 0% of your available credit line.

How this impacts your score

The purpose of a credit score is for lenders to determine the likelihood that you will repay money you borrow. Therefore, the scoring algorithms look to see that you're not overextended in credit card debt and living beyond your means. As a rule of thumb, maxing out your cards will lower your score while showing more available credit will increase your score.

Pro tip: If you're carrying high balances, a quick trick to increase your score is to pay your balances down to below 25% of the available credit limit of each card and never spend any more than that, even if you pay the bill off in full each month.

How quickly will I see the changes?

Credit card companies report your balances to the bureaus once per month (each on a different day) and your credit reports and scores at the credit monitoring company will only update once per month, therefore it can take up to two months to see this begin to impact your scores. For this reason, it's important to understand that improving your credit scores takes time and a commitment to change your daily habits and the way you spend money. The good news is that the sooner you can do it, the sooner your scores will rise.

Credit Utilization Summary:

PART 4 - AN OVERVIEW OF OUR PROCESS

Our Business Is based on the following laws that regulate the credit bureaus:

- Fair Credit Repair Act
- Fair Credit Billing Act
- Fair Debt Collection Practices Act

Our Plan of Action

The credit system is flawed, and nearly 80% of all reports have errors that can lower your score. But you have rights and we know how to use them to your benefit! The law gives you the right to dispute any item on your credit reports. And if those items cannot be verified, they must be removed. If they can't prove it, they must remove it! And we are very good at this!
